I really liked the 20 bin parts storage case from harbor freight, but I was really unhappy that there didn't seem to be a way that I could purchase more of the different sized organizers to make things more customizable.

Each of these should be printed open side towards the print bed. If you aren't worried about the locking feet on the bottom slice them off and print them bottom down.

In the images, all of the yellow boxes are the original polypropylene boxes that originally came with the case for comparison.
