We have had a card game called "Shitty" in the family for many years, passed down from previous generations that many of us enjoy playing.

It may very well go by other names but I can't find any.

I have included the rules and a score sheet in case you are interested in learning about it. It is a good game for 2 to 8+ older kids and adults. Just add more standard decks for more players.

To use the counter, lay it on the side with the text on top showing which turn it is as a visual reminder of how many sets are required to lay down that turn.

My Sister designed the counter as a surprise gift and has allowed me to post it.

Printed in PLA in about 2 hours. Print on its end at .2mm, no supports needed.
