Sometimes you have some time with your loved one where you just do not want to be bothered by someone else, and you just need a subtle way to let them know not to disturb you. When all of the regular socks and ties that you normally would attach to the door are out of reach, look for your trusty door hanger that always has your back.

Keep your privates private with this handy bedroom must have, so you can get handsy with privacy.

Fits just right diagonally on mk3s. Print the first layers in white, then change to another sock color (blue perhaps) and finally some red lettering, to let others know you mean business.

The opening is 58 mm wide, so it should fit most standard door handles.
