This thing is like "Seinfeld". Its a thing about nothing. It's just for fun. I was tinkering around with TinkerCAD trying out all of the basic shapes available and ended up with this sculpture. It looks like a castle and has a happy look to it so I printed it. I'm probably also going to use it as an example 3D print. I've included a larger size which is just scaled up version. the photo is of the regular size fun print.
