Ever wondered how fries are made?

Well... they're potato poop. And Mr. Peely McCrisp just found out the hard way. With every poop forward, and he’s no longer a spud... he's a snack. This diorama isn’t just a print—it’s a story. A tale of identity, sacrifice, and... fries for humanity. Watch as Mr. McCrisp comes to his end through his irreversible fate—pooping. This hilarious and slightly tragic diorama captures that exact moment: the realization, the regret, and the golden doom behind him.

With expressive details and zero multi-color printer requirements, this print is made for laughs, conversation, and possibly existential dread

(especially if you’re a potato). Everything prints in separate colors, ready to be glued into one glorious tribute to tuber turmoil.
