I made this for my kid's carnival-costume.

The three parts (Base Disk, Flash, Ring) can be printed separately in fitting colors.

The base disk is sewn on to a red long-sleeve or the like. Then, the flash and the outer ring are attached to it and secured with a drop of glue. The threads/stiches are then fully covered up and invisible.

The original Flash-logo is somewhat pointy so I added a second version with slightly rounded tips, which might be more suitable for smaller children.

The FreeCAD source-file (0.20) is included.
