This is a new updated version of my Passport Travel Case (<https://www.thingiverse.com/thing:3868844>). The core design and the holder for the passport itself is exactly the same as my original so if your passport fits that it'll fit this.

This however has an additional slot on the front specifically designed to house a boarding pass.

I found with the original one, the only option was to fold the boarding pass into the passport itself, but I found out the hard way that this can make the passport that bit too thick and cause it to get stuck inside the holder.

Well no more, now you can travel in style with this fancy new holder!
