They clip on the size adjustment guides, and are flexible enough to be deattached easily when printed in PETG.

Since the clip didn't match my headphones, I did a few tweaks to the original design. The clip is more flexible and the connector between the cat ears and the clip is longer, resulting in a more stable connection.

Print both ears and two clips in PETG with 0,2mm layer thickness. If you want two colors, use the Multimaterial painting feature in Prusa Slicer with a smart fill angle of 5°.
