Brigadier General Andriy Biletskyi : Little Green Army Men

Ill make a war planning table : Here it is.

Andriy Biletskyi

- Role & Command: Brigadier General in the Armed Forces of Ukraine; Commander of the 3rd Army Corps and the "Center" Operational-Tactical Group.
- Background: One of the most prominent Ukrainian field commanders, originally known for founding the Azov Battalion in 2014 and later leading the 3rd Separate Assault Brigade before advancing to corps-level operational command.

- Reputation: Recognized for modern maneuver doctrine, heavy integration of tactical electronic warfare, decentralized command, and forward-deployed operational leadership.

Operation Vivaldi

- Sector: Northern Donetsk Oblast (the Lyman–Borova operational axis), primarily focused north and east of Lyman.
- Objective: A multi-phase Ukrainian counteroffensive aimed at breaking Russian flank pressure toward the Oskil River and Siverskyi Donets, dislodging elements of Russia’s 20th and 25th Combined Arms Armies from key high ground and tactical corridors.
- Concept: Named after Antonio Vivaldi's The Four Seasons, structuring the phased campaign into seasonal operational milestones.
- Key Tactical Milestones:
  - Neutralizing Asymmetric Assets: Severe attritional and EW strikes against specialized Russian reconnaissance and strike drone detachments (including the Rubikon unit).
  - Bridgehead Rollbacks: Recapturing and clearing critical defensive settlements, including Shandryholove, Drobysheve, Derylove, Ridkodub, and Nove.
  - Operational Impact: Reclaimed over 90 square kilometers of contested terrain, capturing hundreds of prisoners and stabilizing the defensive buffer protecting the Sloviansk–Kramatorsk agglomeration.
