A little chunky, a little spooky, and ready for Halloween!

This little witch pig has a big belly, a curly tail, and a witch hat that’s almost as wide as he is. He’s happy hanging out on a desk, shelf, or windowsill—and makes a great companion for the Little Witch Duck!

No multicolor printer needed! The model is split into 9 pieces that you print separately by color and glue together.

I used pink for the body, snout, and tail, black for the eyes, hooves, and hat, and a tricolor silk for the hatband. Use whatever colors you have!

A few printing notes:

- Around 120 mm tall when assembled.

- PLA with 0.20 mm layers, 2 perimeters, and 10% infill is a good starting point.
- Add supports where needed, especially around the ears, snout, and curled hat tip.
- Included 3mf has settings dialed in for the Prusa Core One

If you make one, post a photo! I'd love to see this little guy joining your Halloween decorations.

Happy printing, and happy Halloween!
