Give your keys a funny home with this miniature toilet key holder. The moving hook opens the lid to reveal a little poop surprise, as shown in the photos. A playful accessory for an entryway, workshop or bathroom.

PRINTING

The original Bambu Studio 3MF includes two plates and is set up for a Bambu Lab A1 with a 0.4 mm nozzle, PLA, 0.20 mm layers, 2 walls and 15% infill. Supports are enabled in the saved project. Keep the saved part orientations and settings, select your own printer and filament, and re-slice before printing. No AMS is required: print the toilet parts and brown detail separately.

ASSEMBLY & USE

Remove supports and clean the mating surfaces and moving parts. Fit the hook, lid and small detail according to the finished-print photos, checking that the mechanism moves freely. Do not force tight connections; carefully clean up any remaining filament. Secure the holder to a suitable vertical surface using a mounting method appropriate for the surface and the weight of your keys. Use it for a lightweight keyring; the moving hook may need to be reset by hand after use.

The gallery shows actual printed examples. The 3MF project preserves the original parts and print setup.
