Ninja mags are fun, but the only release using them currently is the FlyNKx, which is a bit of an ask. Here's a cheap springer adapted to fit ninja mags, just not as tacticool as upcoming ninja mag blasters.

Why use this over a Moose mag ontos? Because rock n lock mags are fun. Includes a rotating sear for better leverage and the spring spacer storage grip.

Step provided so you can touch it up to your liking. This was just a quick reshaping I partially gave up on because the Ontos internals don't naturally favor space efficiency at the same time as larp aesthetics (hence the moderately modified default stock).
