Clip that holds together the standard aluminum crutches hospitals and doctors give out. Keeps them snug together to help with storage, moving them, and makes them easier to handle.

I suggest printing two clips and permanently attaching them to one crutch with zip ties: one near the top, one near the bottom, and placing them on alternate sides to prevent them acting as a hinge and allowing the crutches to flap open.

Bonus smiley face included to help with emotional healing

Notes:

I print with 6 walls and 50% infill and they turned out well, but that's personal preference and you can use your judgement on how strong you want them
