These are some simple models that resemble apples, pears, and plums. They're inspired by the game First Orchard by HABA. The kids kept taking the nice wooden fruit from that game to play with in their kitchen and it got frustrating! These plastic replacements fit the bill for imaginative play and now the game gets to stay intact.

The models are flat on the bottom and print easily. I recommend setting the z-seam/layer change to occur in one place so they don't end up with zits all over.
