Summary

This is a really cool Tiki scan from Makerwiz! I dropped it into Meshmixer and fixed the bottom. Can't wait to print it Should now open in the correct orientation on the build plate and have a nice flat surface to sit on. I would enlarge him so you can see the awesome detail. Should print just fine at .2 layer height and 10 to 15% infill. Print with at least 3 layers to keep the infill from showing through the outer walls. I would either print in a wood PLA filament or regular PLA and spray paint with a textured "rock" paint from the hardware store.
