Summary

Golf Bags with Clubs are a target. Protect it with a hidden Apple Tag inside a golf ball. Just don't hit it. :)

Playing golf here is great but sometimes those golf bags are a target for unwanted attention. Apple Tag (which also has a replaceable battery), is a great solution to finding them if they get stolen. But people are savy now and would look for those tags, or other identifying labels or markings. So hide an Apple Tag in a golf ball, withough destroying a good one.

I printed this with PETG white, .20 Quality on my MK3S+/MMU2S. Looks great, and blends in with all the other things you keep in your bag. It is a snug fit. Just line up the dimples on the first half with the slots on the second half. Then a slight twist to lock it.

BTW: If you spray it with clear paint, it looks a bit more like a real golf ball.
