Summary

Make it easier to see all the quest cards around the table.

Toys & Games > Board Games

Someone on BoardGameGeek asked for a tray to pass the four quests at Cliffwatch Inn around the table, so everyone can read them more easily. Here's my stab at it. Designed for sleeved cards but should of course work for unsleeved cards as well.

License Exclusion: This model is excluded from the Commercial License available through the Commercial License tier of the Printables Club.

UPDATE 12/13/2021: Updated hinge to make it more robust.

UPDATE 7/22/2021: Updated the hinge attachment mechanism. Instead of glueing it into the main board, you can now just "click" it in place.

UPDATE 5/1/2020: kap42 remixed my original design for laser cut and added an awesome kickstand. Now, I couldn't let that go unanswered! 😊 Here's an update to my original design that adds a two-part kickstand. Of course, the tray is still usable even without the stand.

Print instructions

0.2mm or 0.3mm

15% infill

No supports

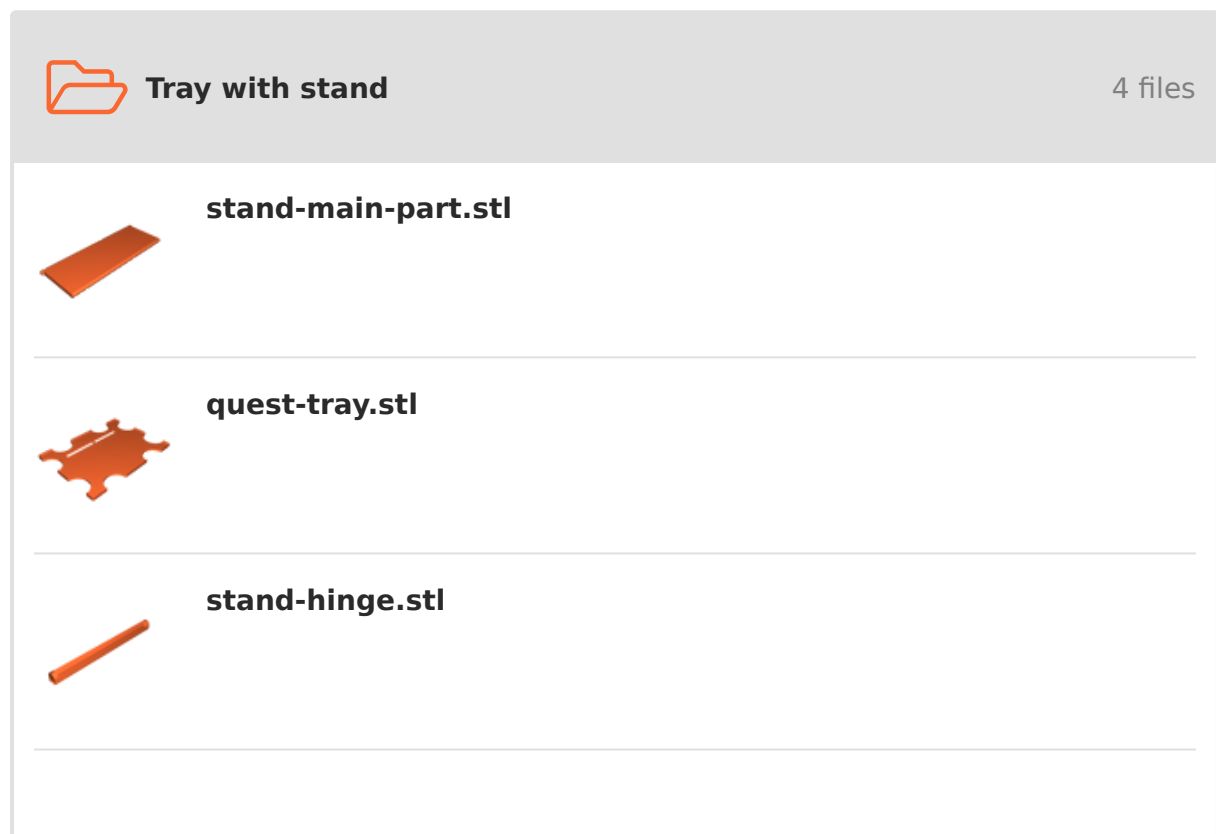

If you just want to use the tray without a stand, I have included a version without it.

I have also included a .3mf file with the settings for printing it with a 0.6mm nozzle.

Assembly

Simply click the stand part into the hinge. Then click the assembled stand into the opening in the tray. Make sure you do it in the proper orientation (see photos).
