3d printed quick release

This masks were given to us by our employer. They are very nice but putting them on is kind of tricky. This quick release makes it much easier!

There is a .step file if you want to change it to your needs.

Print instructions

0.4 nozzle

Best thing is to print it in PLA first because bridging works better. PETG might need a little more tweeking but makes the quick release head resistant (washing machine, car,...)
