This chaotic CatDog collection of corpses is freakin' MASSIVE!

I actually enjoy this streak of Bloodborne characters that I'm doing, so I figured I'd get one of the harder ones done and over with. The One Reborn has similar concepts from my Soul Shaker and my Zombie Clot, but supersized. The base alone is 8 inches, which makes it the biggest creature I've modeled to date. Much like the Pari, I used some art assets from mz4250's google drive in the creation process, namely the limbs from his base mesh, and some skulls on both ends of the model. However, what solidifies this as a remix is the skeletal figure on top of the model is his dancing skeleton that he made last month. I hope you enjoy this, because the original modeling and sculpting involved took a while to get done. Have fun!

Filament: Stronghero3D PLA Silk Blue

Notes:

I used silk blue PLA because it was what I had lying around, I was going to paint over it anyway. The skeleton on top was printed in Elegoo gray resin.
