Summary

A set of hooks I designed bearing a slogan I once heard: "A bad day with coffee is better than a good day without it".

I designed these hooks as I needed something better to store my coffee cloths with the espresso machine. This is mounted with adhesive strips (you can use 3M ones for easy removal). I heard the quote "A bad day with coffee is better than a good day without it" once a while ago and it resonated with the caffeine addict in me hence it's use here.

The model is designed with filament change in mind to get the colour differential however it could be painted post print.. Layer height is totally up to you depending on how smooth you want the curves of the hooks. It is a prime candidate for variable layer height. The hooks are VERY strong at 20% infill.

Please comment with any questions/feedback. Happy Printing.
