

Low-Profile Game Card Holder/Stand

Jamehz

VIEW IN BROWSER

updated 8. 7. 2024 | published 8. 7. 2024

Summary

A 2-level card holder for those needing a low-profile angle for their hand. I've used them for Everdell and Catan.

Toys & Games > Board Games

Tags: organizer holder card stand game everdell

Game card holders that are very low-profile, holding the cards at a 35-degree angle.

I made these for when the game cards were flat on the table and getting too much glare from the light above. It's also handy when you have limited room on the table - the base is only a couple inches, leaving more room for the game.

They work great with sleeved cards as well.

These segments are printable on the Prusa Mini, and can be joined by 6x3mm magnets so you can attach as many as you need together.

July 2024 Update: I've added a single-row variant by request. They're physically compatible with the 2-row versions in terms of magnets. Enjoy!

Model files

low-profile-card-tray-1-row.stl

low-profile-card-tray-2-rows.stl

License ©

This work is licensed under a
Creative Commons \(4.0 International License\)

Attribution-NonCommercial

-
- ✗ | Sharing without ATTRIBUTION
 - ✓ | Remix Culture allowed
 - ✗ | Commercial Use
 - ✗ | Free Cultural Works
 - ✗ | Meets Open Definition