Summary

Had lots of unused space under the sink, so developed a system to make use of it.

We have lots of stuff in our kitchen, and I realized there was lots of unused space...so designed a basket system to make use of it. Starting with the simple one hook system, this has now evolved into a system that creates a hook that can go all the way across the side of the cabinet allowing much more flexibility of where the baskets hang.

There are three sizes of pegs as the holes in my old cabinet all seemed to be slightly different sizes. For the most part, the medium pegs work best. The large ones hold the best...but sometimes maybe too well!

Also have two sizes of baskets for more flexibility.

Enjoy!
