A red birb.

The last picture show how to print the main parts (support), you will need some glue for the face
I highly recommend to print the face and the beak with 0.1mm layers (but it work with 0.2mm).
The body can be printed with 0.1 or 0.2 mm layers. I have not tested with thicker layers.

There is more information on the original model.

Following a request, I added a quick fused version but I didn't have time to clean it.
