This is a replacement foot for the Urban Arrow as mine wore out. It's designed to fit both sides. When fitting I think perhaps i might have needed a longer bolt but can't remember. At some point I might update the design to make it bigger to provide more stability as this one has the same overall dimensions as the original.

Naturally I needs to be printed with quite a few perimeters/top & bottom layers so it does wear out too quickly. Perhaps printing in nylon or even tpu could be a good option although in my case i just used PLA.
