Summary

The existing Elder Wand designs all look nice, but none of them are particularly screen accurate.

The existing Elder Wand designs all look nice, but none of them are particularly screen accurate. I set out to design a more organic version to have a custom model to sell in my Etsy shop. I'm releasing it under a non-commercial license for personal use, because I believe in the open source nature of the 3D printing community.

The shape was modeled from reference photographs from the movie prop, and then detailing was done by hand in Sculptiris. The Elder Wand is an organic work, so no attempt was made to make a 1:1 duplicate of the movie prop, but designed to recreate the look and feel of the original.

You can order it printed and finished directly from my Etsy shop (as well as other great Harry Potter inspired wands) at <https://www.etsy.com/shop/IamFossCustomPrints>

Update: I've added a version with the ruins, and also a MMU model of the wand with the ruins.
