Summary

This is a remix of nexusz's mason jar ring lids with some additional feet to lift the jars from the surface.

This is a simple modification to the original model that introduces some feet that come off the face of the jar lid.

I would recommend using supports

PLA worked fine for me but the original author recommend PETG

I have included three different heights. If you would like some different heights please leave a comment of the height you want and I will to add it into the mix. The pictures show the 12mm height and the 50mm height.
