After loosing one of the plastic feet of my Willworx MTB stand, i made my own and slapped together a set of replacement feet for it. If you print it at 100%, it will perfectly fit, BUT it won' sit snug on it and you would need to glue it somehow. But if you scale it down to 98% (overall) and use TPU, it will fit like a (pretty tight) glove.

It goes without saying, if you want to replace all 4 feet, you should most likely print 4 of these suckers.

Due to it more or less universal design, its perfectly usable as feet/ protection for something else, just scale/mod it as needed.
