I loved the whisker-friendly-cat-bowl by hikree, The cats loved the height so they could eat standing or sitting comfortably, I did not love all the food that Nova spilled all over the floor.

I started with a slightly wider bowl and base to accommodate both cats at once although I might as well have skipped that part. One of our cats (Nova) is dead set against the other one (Cat) interrupting her solitary dinner experience even when there are 2 bowls full of food. The new bowl holds more which means she is less likely to see the bottom of the dish-- something that causes her such distress that she has to whine at everyone in the house. It is really a devastating experience for all of us to endure.

I also put a lip around the edge since the one cat (Nova again) likes to nudge each bite up against the edge of the bowl to ensure that she gets a good grip on it.

This should print without supports at whatever settings you normally use.
