I designed this mount in tinkercad because I couldn't find something online. The unit slides in like a glove and the mount provides screw holes to mount under your desk.

I printed it using cheps super fast settings, 0% infill and maxed out walls for extra strength, no supports needed (my screw holes had a little drooping but it didn't affect the utility of the print)

The triangle cutouts save on time and filament and the screw holes are counter sunk so you have a flush surface after mounting. I might add a headphone hanger in the future if so I'll upload that file as well.
