The EX30 headlight is decent, but it's narrow. During night rides, you just don't see enough of your surroundings. Therefore I replaced it with an aftermarket light that is much wider and just as bright if not brighter.

This is the headlight it was designed for: <https://www.amazon.com/AKD-Part-Waterproof-Motorcycle-Warranty/dp/B07FDVJTLX>

I printed in PLA. Do not over torque the screw because the mount is plastic instead of metal. If it fails, I may update it to something more substantial but for now it works.

You will need to glue/velcro the existing beeper to the side frame. Use the same connector from the old headlight.
