Hi all. This is a very cool and necessary thing. This protects the board cooling fan from falling debris and plastic residues.

Original and author:

This is a remix. I added the inscription.

There are several options for the inscription with different locations. I also added a separate file with the text of the inscription.

You can independently adjust the height, as well as the position and size of the text in 3D BUILDER.

This program is available on every Windows computer.

This remix is based on
