It's Edgar! Quite possibly the ugliest Halloween fridge magnet, key hook and general desk companion the world has ever seen.

This model includes Edgar himself and his eyeball. For the eyeball, I suggest printing it lowered slightly below the printing mat so that it has a flat base. That'll improve bed adhesion. I've also included two inserts: a (10mm X 2mm) magnet insert if you plan to use Edgar on a metallic object and a (#6) screw insert if you plan to stick him up on your wall.

He looks magnificently horrifying straight off the print bed, but Edgar is a flamboyant ... thing ... so I highly recommend slapping on a few extra colors. Rub a sharpie over his bumps for quick and easy contrast, or if you are feeling fancy, give him a quick dry brush with some acrylic paint or rub 'n buff. Decorate his eyeball with a sharpie, a dollop of paint, or (if you are going all out) a dollop of black JB Weld.

This model is free to adapt. All I ask is that you drop me a review to share your version of Edgar in all his glory. And if he gives someone a jump scare, please let me know that too. :)

If you like Edgar, I'd really appreciate it if you buy me a coffee.

Thanks, and happy Halloween!

Notes:

- Tree supports are highly recommended.
- Take your time unsticking Edgar from the print bed. He's fiddly.
- The underside of Edgar has a rectangular void you can remove with cutters or tweezers.
- For best results, print him at fine resolution.
