A P5 Joker Mask I drew up since I wanted to take a whack at making something more organic than the stuff that I usually make. I've made the eyes as separate components and thus they can be printed in a different color from the Mask Body. Also, my design has small handles that can be useful for attaching a headband.

Instructions: I printed mine with PLA that way I could glue the eyes to the mask easily. The Mask Body definitely requires supports, and a recommended printing orientation is provided in the above photos.

Notes: There is an alternate mask included with no headband holders if you just want one as a decoration. Also, I've included alternate eyes that were designed for tight fit. These may be useful if you want to print with PETG which is not easily glued.

P.S. I have never played P5 but I have watched people play P5 it looks really good
