This universal peg is used in a few tool holders and organizers that I designed for my IKEA Skadis pegboard. They will require no supports and can be printed quickly and stably on the page. Due to the design of the hooks, the entire back of the holder is on the peg board which gives it more stability

The reason for a separate peg from the organizers is that it enables you to design different plates if you get another type of board in the future without having to throw away the organizers. In addition, the optimum print alignment can be used and the hooks do not break off as easily as with many other designs
