This is my concept for a container that you can hang on top of cabinet doors under your sink. It was inspired by these hooks from Daiso that hold the same function but only lets you hang your small towels. I added extra boxes into this concept for also storing additional objects like facial care bottles to go with your small facial towel for example.

I don't have a 3D printer to print it so if anyone makes this, I would love to see how it looks as a physical model.
