This is a simple two-piece incense holder: the upper part is designed to prevent the incense from falling to the ground, while the lower part holds the incense stick and collects the ash. By lifting the upper part, the ash falls into the lower compartment, keeping everything neat.

The upper part should be printed in vase mode, without a base but with an external brim to prevent detachment.

The lower part does not require supports; I have added fuzzy skin to conceal the seam lines.
