The original Penguin Crossing Sign is cute beyond belief. It's just what me and my penguin loving girlfriend needed for our yard!

The only drawback to the original was the circular cutouts for magnets in the back. In my case, I didn't need them. And they created unneeded thin spots in the sign which looked a little weird when the sign was backlit by the sun. So this remix simply fills those holes in.

I also resized the model to 200x200mm to maximize my print area.

I would recommend printing in PETG which I find holds up outdoors and is easy to print. ASA also holds up well outdoors but I find it is prone to warping on big flat models like this.

Good luck! I'd love to see your prints. And don't forget to like the original model!
