I loved playing the game Gloomhaven Jaws of the Lion, and kept getting frustrated by the small, unorganized player boxes, where cards would get mixed up and all over the place. This model is a little bit bulky, but fits player tokens, coins, modifiers, cards, xp wheel, and player info sheet. Has a slide lid with player logo raised, optimal for color change. This was my first real 3d model, so it is not necessarily the most space efficient, but it keeps everything organized and I am happy with it. I did have one issue with tolerances on the sliding lid, but that should be fixed with v2, and if there are still any difficulties, a little sandpaper did the trick.

As time goes on, I will hopefully design more organizers for this game, and maybe others, which I will upload as well. I love the game, but their box organization is lacking to the say the least.

As far as print settings go, I printed on my Prusa MK3S with supports on the box, though they really shouldn't be necessary. I used matterhackers PLA with 25% infill, though any should work. If you like it post a make, remix or share! Thanks and happy printing! Print Settings
