Summary

Nice sign I made for my Bambu X1 Cardon to test it's multicolor and details.

I thought this was a fitting sign for this awesome machine.

I printed this with a .2 nozzle at .12 if I remember right. This is really needed to get that good detail. Depending on you color changes this can take 4-6 hours. I was happy with the results.

I attached it with command strips.

This is an original model I made from a picture of a sign I saw on some other site. That is where I got some of the text. Do not remember where so I can't provide attribution. If someone come across it please post a comment and I can give credit where credit is due.
