This is a bathtub fishing pole toy with a functional reel. It requires a short bit of string which you tie to the inner part of the reel and then feed through the pole before snapping the reel together.

Tolerances work well for PETG but may need adjusting if printing in PLA.

Everything floats fine if printed with 25% or less infill. The pole and Reel 2 pieces need support, but the rest should print fine without.

You could glue the reel together if desired but I prefer to leave it as is so it can be disassembled for drying. If left together wet for long periods of time, it could grow mold, so I strongly suggest taking it apart to dry.
