The sign is mirrored, so the exposed part will be the one laying on the print bed. This ensures better finish of the sign.

This whimsical and humorous 2D design features three curious cats peeking around the corner, with their head tilted and a mischievous expression on its face.

🐱 The cat's eyes are wide and inquisitive, as if it's trying to catch someone in the act of using the bathroom.

The text "Are you pooping?" is prominently displayed in a playful, hand-drawn font, adding to the lighthearted and slightly cheeky tone of the design. 🐾 The cat's body is partially obscured by the wall or corner it's peeking around, leaving just its head and one paw visible.

The design is suitable for printing on a variety of materials, such as signs, wall hangings, or even bathroom accessories like hand towels or soap dishes. It would make a fun and quirky addition to any bathroom or living space, especially for cat lovers or those with a sense of humor. 😺

The design is a vector file, ensuring high-quality printing and the ability to scale the image to different sizes without losing resolution. It can be printed using FDM (Fused Deposition Modeling) technology, making it suitable for 3D printing on various materials like PLA or PETG. 3D
