I made this so that the ice cream cup doesn't freeze your hands and at the same time melt on the inside.

It was made for Ben & Jerry's Cups but fits most other Cups with roughly the same dimensions. I also included a spoon holder on the side.

Both Versions work great - I just made a loose/relaxed version for other Cups that are just a tad too large to sit comfortably in the holder.

They both include a hole in the bottom, so you can easily push out the cup with your finger. It also helps with ventilation (moisture buildup).

You can print it however you like. I recommend an infill of at least 20%.
