it's a remix of the "(A bit) more secure AirTag holder for bike" for a 29mm steel frame.

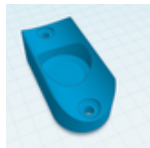

i'm pretty sure with 90% infill a potential thief will need a few minutes to kick or break it off with a screwdriver. I added a few holes to make it easier to hear the airtag and to allow any water to drain away.

Tincercad source if you want to customize the model: <https://www.tinkercad.com/things/kMCgxuzcMDt>

Using screws with non-standard drive also helps, for example:
