Super simple model that I made by hacking together two other models from Thingiverse namely this PS5 controller stand and this Skadis hook. Aside from bodging the two together in Tinkercad I flattened the sides so that the model can print flat on it's side with very few supports.

I print on 0.25mm draft with 5% infill, and “supports on build plate” enabled.

With very minimal post processing you have a clean and tidy stand for your DualSense controller to snap into that prints in just over an hour.
