

The Four Elements and White Lotus Wall Decoration

CrimsonEidolon

VIEW IN BROWSER

updated 1. 7. 2024 | published 1. 7. 2024

Summary

The Four Elements And White Lotus Wall Decoration from Avatar the Last Airbender

Art & Design > Wall-mounted

Tags: water decoration wall fire art air element
avatar earth lotus avathelastairbender ang

This is a wall decoration of the four elements, Water, Earth, Fire, and Air, from Avatar the Last Airbender with The White Lotus emblem to hold them together in the center.

The plates for the elements and The White Lotus emblem center piece were printed with a simple filament change using PLA. The frames require supports and were printed with gold silk PLA.

Once fully printed and assembled, the whole thing measures 560mm (22").

Note: The images here show the element plates with 3 tabs to help orient them. However, I realized that it was foolish to have 4 different frames that need to be sliced. I edited the plates to have 4 tabs, and the frames to have 4 corresponding gaps to help align the plates as well as allow makes to only slice once frame file to print 4 times.

I have included a file for the frame without a key to fit into the underside of The White Lotus emblem in case someone wants to print this without the White Lotus in the center.

The frame has keys that fit under the White Lotus emblem and should be glued together. The whole thing was mounted to the wall using Command picture frame strips.

Model files

frame-v2-lotuskey.3mf

frame-v2.3mf

water-v2.3mf

lotus.3mf

air-v2.3mf

fire-v2.3mf

earth-v2.3mf

License ©

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons (4.0 International License)

Attribution-NonCommercial

---

- ✗ | Sharing without ATTRIBUTION
- ✓ | Remix Culture allowed
- ✗ | Commercial Use
- ✗ | Free Cultural Works
- ✗ | Meets Open Definition