Hello All,

Keep in mind, this is my first desk ornament design and my first build from tinkercad. Pro "Patria Vigilans" was adopted from the Signal School insignia and serves to portray the cohesiveness of Signal soldiers and their affiliation with their regimental home. It stands for "Watchful for the Country". Signal Corp. soldiers in the Army will know this motto.

You will notice upon loading the build that there are some negative blocks on the base to help make it the same size on both sides. I originally lost the file in tinkercad and could not correct it. In the future, when time allows again, I will recreate this correctly. But, for the most part. It serves its purpose and looks great.

For coloring, do not start at the base of the text, go slightly above. For some reason it tries to color the base. You will notice that.

Other than those small issues, it prints great laying face down.
