Was going on vacation and need a secure way to attach the new tile tracker to my dog. It ant fancy but tpu makes it tough and comfortable. I had a store bought one before and it broke during dog-on-dog play.

There are 2 versions of the bottom. If you already have your tpu supports tuned and feel good doing your own, then you don't need the one with supports. I didn't have time so I just made my own that I could cut off.

Wish I could teel you what screw and nut it is made for. On the bag I scribbled 6/32 x 1/2, hope that makes sense to someone.

The window is made for the QR code to be framed but it can go ither direction.

Supports: yes
