Just some tissue box cover I made that was heavily inspired by the palm pots that used to be in front of the Tower of Terror. I liked the design and decided to make it into a cover for a tissue box. I printed the main piece upside down, so not as much support is needed. The keys fit into the slots on the top, and the top art deco things snap in. I used super glue to hold them in place.

edit: Added optional bottom cover. Makes it look a little nicer.
